Executive Summary:

In dramatic reversal from just a few months ago, Pakistanis have turned against Osama Bin Laden, Al Qaeda and the Taliban. And in an equally stunning turnaround, in advance of Pakistan's upcoming February 18th elections, nearly two-thirds of Pakistanis now intend to vote for the moderate political parties on the ballot.

These results are from a new nationwide public opinion survey conducted from January 19 to 29, 2008 across Pakistan, covering both urban and rural areas and all provinces. The survey, with face-to-face interviews of 1,157 Pakistanis and a margin of error of 3 percent, was conducted by Terror Free Tomorrow: The Center for Public Opinion, D3 Systems and the Pakistan Institute for Public Opinion.

The momentous events of the past several months—President Musharraf's crackdown against the press and opposition figures, increased terrorist attacks by Al Qaeda and the Taliban, and the assassination of former Prime Minister Benazir Bhutto—have resulted in a sea change in Pakistani public opinion.

Public Support for Al Qaeda, the Taliban and Bin Laden Drops by Half

Pakistani public support for Al Qaeda, the Taliban, Bin Laden and other radical Islamist groups has dropped by half. TFT's previous nationwide survey across Pakistan in August 2007 (also conducted with D3 and PIPO) showed that anywhere from a third to one-half of Pakistanis had a favorable opinion of Al Qaeda and related radical Islamist groups. Those numbers have now plummeted to the teens.

In August, 46 percent of Pakistanis had a favorable opinion of Bin Laden—that's down to 24 percent now, while Al Qaeda has dropped from 33 to 18 percent, the Taliban from 38 percent to 19 percent, and other related radical Islamist groups from nearly half of the Pakistani public with a favorable view to less than a quarter today.

Significantly, if Al Qaeda were on the ballot as a political party in the February 18th election, only 1 percent of Pakistanis would vote for them. (The Taliban would draw just 3 percent of the vote.)

70 percent of Pakistanis want Musharraf to immediately Resign; 58 percent Think Musharraf and the Government is Responsible for Mrs. Bhutto's Assassination

The Pakistani people give an equally stinging rebuke to President Musharraf and his political allies. 70 percent want Musharraf to resign immediately as President.

More people think that Musharraf is responsible for the assassination of Benazir Bhutto than any other person or group—indeed, 58 percent of Pakistanis think Musharraf, government allied politicians and Pakistani government agencies are responsible for the death of Benazir Bhutto. Only 7 percent believe Al Qaeda and/or the Taliban is responsible, less than those who hold the United States responsible.

Nearly Two-thirds of Pakistanis Will Vote for the Two Leading Moderate Political Parties on the Ballot.

While the public has overwhelmingly turned against Musharraf, Bin Laden, Al Qaeda and the Taliban, the people have also made a dramatic shift in support of Pakistan's moderate, democratic political forces.

In TFT's previous August survey, less than 40 percent said they would vote for the leading moderate political parties, the Pakistan People's Party (PPP) and the Pakistan Muslim League (PML-N) led by former Prime Minister Nawaz Sharif. Now, 62 percent of Pakistanis said they would vote for the PPP and the PML-N.

Importantly, in the latest survey before the February 18th vote, nearly two-thirds of Pakistanis said they would vote for the moderate parties of the PPP and PML-N. If these parties garner two-thirds of the seats in Pakistan's Parliament, they will have enough votes potentially to remove President Musharraf from office.

Nawaz Sharif, leader of the PML-N, has also become the most popular political figure in Pakistan, with a favorable rating of 73 percent and 18 percent unfavorable (Musharraf stands at just 30 percent favorable; 62 percent unfavorable.) Benazir Bhutto's son Bilawal Bhutto Zardari enjoys the second highest favorable rating at 64 percent, but the late Mrs. Bhutto's husband does not enjoy similarly high favorable ratings, with only 48 percent expressing a favorable opinion, and 32 percent unfavorable. Of course, final election results will be affected by voter turnout and events between now and the elections. Events on the ground, such as the killing of Benazir Bhutto in December, can substantially affect opinion and voting behavior.

Public Support for Al Qaeda, the Taliban and Bin Laden Also Declining in the Northwest Frontier Province; Opinion of the U.S. Still Negative, but Open to Change

In a possible harbinger of future success against Al Qaeda and the Taliban, they are losing public support in areas in or near their home base. Favorable opinions of Al Qaeda and the Taliban in the North-West Frontier Province have dropped to single digits. And while in TFT's last survey, 70 percent in the NWFP expressed a favorable opinion of Bin Laden—that's now plunged to only 4 percent.

Declining support for terrorists does not mean, however, that Pakistanis back American military action against Al Qaeda and the Taliban. 64 percent of Pakistanis oppose the U.S. military pursuing Al Qaeda and Taliban fighters inside Pakistan, though this is down from the 74 percent who expressed opposition in TFT's August 2007.

Opinions of the United States itself, however, have remained steadily negative, with two-thirds voicing an unfavorable view. Yet as we found in our prior survey, potential changes in American policies could result in profound changes in opinions of the United States itself. Anywhere from a majority to more than two-thirds of Pakistanis said that policies ranging from increased American business investment, free trade, educational aid, disaster assistance, medical care and training and increased U.S. visas for Pakistanis would significantly improve their opinion of the United States.

Pakistanis See their Country Moving in the Wrong Direction; Democracy and Economy Highest Priorities

Overall, 82 percent of Pakistanis see their country headed in the wrong direction. Ensuring an independent judiciary, free elections, a free press and improving the Pakistani economy were their most important priorities—while support for defeating Al Qaeda, Taliban and other Jihadi groups nearly doubled as a priority from August.

Background on TFT:

Terror Free Tomorrow: The Center for Public Opinion (“TFT”) is a non-partisan, 501(c) (3) not-for-profit established in Washington, D.C.

Terror Free Tomorrow finds out why people support or oppose extremism. Our work is pioneering. TFT is the first to conduct uncensored, independent, comprehensive nationwide public opinion surveys in Iran, Saudi Arabia and Syria, path breaking surveys in Pakistan, and the first surveys of Indonesia following the tsunami and Pakistan after the earthquake.

Covered by every major media outlet throughout the world, these surveys have been the subject of editorials in the Wall Street Journal, New York Times, Washington Post, Los Angeles Times, Guardian, Christian Science Monitor, San Francisco Chronicle, Washington Times, etc., front page news articles in the New York Times and Washington Post, and featured coverage by the Associated Press, CNN, NBC, etc.

- IN SAUDI ARABIA, TFT’s unprecedented survey is hailed by the major reform-minded Arabic press as “a survey of profound importance” (Al-Watan; Asharq Al-Awsat), and extensively reported in front page coverage throughout Saudi and Arabic media. According to Al-Watan, the leading reform newspaper in Saudi Arabia, our survey is “a rare and remarkable in-depth study of Saudi society” that can help “bear witness to a new consciousness in the Arab and Muslim world.”

For the U.S., the poll is relied on in commentary from the Christian Science Monitor to the San Francisco Chronicle, with news coverage in the New York Times, Washington Post, Wall Street Journal, USA Today, AP, Reuters, CNN and more.

- IN PAKISTAN, TFT’s nationwide survey is the “oft-quoted standard” for the democracy debate inside Pakistan (The News).

In the American foreign policy debate, the survey is relied on in editorials from the Washington Post to the Los Angeles Times, with front page coverage in the New York Times and Washington Post, a feature story on CNN, and in hearings before the House Foreign Affairs and Armed Services Committees.

- IN IRAN, TFT’s survey is the first uncensored poll of the Iranian people in five years, headlined by the leading student organization in Iran, throughout Iranian blogs and by the leaders of the pro-democracy movement.

Our Iran survey is making a real impact to Iranians themselves. Called “an act of bravery by ordinary citizens,” our survey “after so many years of isolation, and despite the risk,” is giving the Iranian people themselves a voice (International Herald Tribune).

For the U.S. policy debate, the Wall Street Journal, New York Times, Economist and New York Post, among others, rely on the survey in editorials. One editorial (Washington Times) concludes that Terror Free Tomorrow findings provide “the most complete and nuanced understanding of one of the most important foreign-policy challenges we face in the 21st century.”

Recent Work in Iran, Syria, Pakistan and Saudi Arabia:

Praised by leading Iranian experts, scholars and think-tanks such as CSIS, the Heritage Foundation, the Carnegie Endowment and the Nixon Center, the Iran survey has also been featured in editorials spanning the political spectrum from The Wall Street Journal to The New York Times and the Washington Times, from the New York Post to the Huffington Post to the Jerusalem Post, The Economist to Front Page.

The Iran survey is now informing American policy makers at the highest levels of the Congress and the Administration. Terror Free Tomorrow’s Iran survey has been the featured topic of a hearing before the House National Security Subcommittee, where TFT President Ken Ballen was the lead witness, as well as the topic for testimony in other Congressional hearings before the House Foreign Affairs and Armed Services Committees.

In addition, TFT has presented our findings at key think tanks in Washington, DC, such as the Heritage Foundation, the Nixon Center and CSIS. The latter event was nationally televised live by C-SPAN.

The survey has received news coverage in the Wall Street Journal, CNN, NBC News The Today Show, the Associated Press, the Council on Foreign Relations, New York Times, Washington Post, Los Angeles Times, Houston Chronicle, Newsday, International Herald Tribune, Guardian (UK), Financial Times, The Economist, Jerusalem Post, USA Today, Chicago Tribune, New York Post, ABC News, CBS News, the BBC, PBS, C-SPAN, San Francisco Chronicle, Christian Science Monitor, Miami Herald, Cleveland Plain Dealer, San Jose Mercury News, Boston Globe, San Diego Union Tribune, Forbes, Yahoo News, AOL News, BBC Persian, VOA Persian, Radio Farda, and others throughout the world, and throughout the blogosphere.

TFT has also released the first uncensored nationwide poll of Syria ever conducted. This unprecedented survey has received extensive coverage from a lead commentary in the Wall Street Journal to numerous articles in the New York Times, Washington Post, Los Angeles Times, Houston Chronicle, Newsday, International Herald Tribune, Guardian, Philadelphia Inquirer, San Francisco Chronicle, Christian Science Monitor, Miami Herald, Cleveland Plain Dealer, San Jose Mercury News, San Diego Union Tribune, Forbes, Jerusalem Post, Ha’aretz (Israel), and others throughout the Middle East.

The Pakistan survey was featured in a special report on CNN’s Anderson Cooper, as well as in front page news stories by both the New York Times and the Washington Post.

Indeed, like Iran and Syria, the coverage was global, from a feature story on CNN and the CNN.com website, to front page articles in the Washington Post and the New York Times, as well as the Financial Times, Los Angeles Times, Houston Chronicle, Newsday, International Herald Tribune, Guardian, Philadelphia Inquirer, San Francisco Chronicle, Cleveland Plain Dealer, San Jose Mercury News, San Diego Union Tribune, and Forbes, as well as extensive reporting in all media throughout Pakistan itself.

Like the Iran survey, the Pakistan poll is having an important impact in Pakistan itself. One of Pakistan's principal newspapers, The News, in a lead editorial referred to "the oft-quoted survey released by the Washington-based think tank Terror Free Tomorrow" as setting the standard for the current debate over democracy inside Pakistan. At the same time, military dictator General Musharraf's top political ally, Pakistan Muslim League President Shujaat Hussain, has publicly called into question the "authenticity" of the TFT survey.

Terror Free Tomorrow's recent survey of Saudi Arabia is also having an important impact inside Saudi Arabia and the Arab world as well. Hailed by the major reform-minded Arabic press as "a survey of profound importance" (Al-Watan; Asharq Al-Awsat), the survey has been extensively reported in front page coverage throughout Saudi and Arabic media. According to Al-Watan, the leading reform newspaper in Saudi Arabia, our survey is: "a rare and remarkable in-depth study of Saudi society" that can help "bear witness to a new consciousness in the Arab and Muslim world."

The Saudi survey has also been reported on by the New York Times, The Guardian, Washington Post, Wall Street Journal, International Herald Tribune, Christian Science Monitor, USA Today, Philadelphia Inquirer, Miami Herald, Examiner, San Francisco Chronicle, Cleveland Plain Dealer, Boston Globe, San Jose Mercury News, Forbes, Seattle Post Intelligencer, Minneapolis Star Tribune, Atlanta Journal Constitution, Fort Worth Star Telegram, Yahoo News, AOL News, CNN, FOX NEWS, CBS NEWS and Associated Press, Reuters and UPI wire reports throughout the world.

Indonesia, Bangladesh, Turkey and Nigeria

In Indonesia and Bangladesh, Admiral Michael Mullen, Chair of the Joint Chiefs of Staff—the nation's highest ranking military officer—stated that TFT surveys were a "critical factor" in launching the Navy's humanitarian medical missions. TFT surveys showed that the Navy's hospital ship, treating 61,000 needy patients, changed public opinion favorably toward the United States and against terrorism—resulting, according to Admiral Mullen, in new medical missions by the Navy.

Admiral Mullen has written that TFT's findings provided the proof to "one of the defining moments of this new century." According to Admiral Mullen, TFT's surveys have directly led to continuing successful humanitarian missions by the U.S. Navy around the world. As Admiral Mullen testified in March 2007 before the U.S. House Armed Services Committee:

"In public opinion surveys conducted by Terror Free Tomorrow, Indonesians and Bangladeshis overwhelmingly indicated their support of the Navy's humanitarian missions. In Indonesia, 85% of those aware of MERCY's visit had a favorable opinion, and in Bangladesh this figure was 95%. Further, 87% of those polled in Bangladesh stated that MERCY's activities made their overall view of the United States more positive. These polling results provide real indication of the power of partnership humanitarian missions.”

Earlier in the year, TFT completed a public opinion survey of Turkey—the first on an issue of vital importance to both Turkey and the United States, namely the U.S. Congressional resolution formally recognizing as organized genocide the mass killings of Armenians from 1915-23 in Turkey's predecessor state of the Ottoman Empire. Our unprecedented survey shows that the resolution would actually set back the cause it purports to achieve: namely, Turkey's recognition of its own past and reconciliation with Armenia today.

The TFT survey was featured in front page news coverage by both the New York Times and the Washington Post—in fact, in no less than two front page stories by the New York Times (as well as coverage elsewhere such as the Washington Times, Baltimore Sun, etc.) The survey served as a critical element in the Congress' deliberations over the resolution, cited in statements on both the House Floor and by leading Members of Congress as a critical factor in the Congressional debate.

Lee Hamilton, Co-Chair of the 9/11 Commission and the Iraq Study Group, has commented on another one of TFT's surveys—this time of Nigeria:

"Terror Free Tomorrow's new survey of Nigerian opinion reinforces a lesson that America has learned in places as diverse as Pakistan and Indonesia: in the struggle against extremism, the effective and targeted use of U.S. assistance can be as effective - if not more effective - than the deployment of bombs and guns. To win the war of ideas and to combat the swelling turmoil around the world, the United States must use all aspects of American power - including the power of American generosity."

News coverage of that survey, as well as two lead editorials in the Christian Science Monitor, authored by TFT's President, has also appeared.

Additional Background on TFT and D3 Systems:

Since 2005, Terror Free Tomorrow has conducted more than twenty nationwide public opinion surveys around the world, including in Iran, Indonesia, Pakistan, Bangladesh, Syria, Turkey, Nigeria, Saudi Arabia, the United Arab Emirates and elsewhere.

Terror Free Tomorrow's surveys have been cited by former Presidents Bill Clinton and George H.W. Bush, in the US Congress (on the Senate Floor, by key Senators and Congressmen, and in both House and Senate testimony), at the United Nations, and by the US Department of State and Department of Defense, as well as prominent leading think-tanks such as the Heritage Foundation, the Brookings Institution, the Nixon Center, the Center for Strategic and International Studies (CSIS), the Council on Foreign Relations, the Carnegie Endowment and the Clinton Global Initiative.

Terror Free Tomorrow's President, Ken Ballen, successfully prosecuted international terrorists and played a leading role in some of the most important Congressional investigations over the past two decades. Our distinguished international Advisory Board is led by Senator John McCain, former 9/11 Commission Co-Chair Lee Hamilton and former Senate Majority Leader Bill Frist.

Terror Free Tomorrow was the first to conduct a nationwide poll in Indonesia after the tsunami. President Bush, and former Presidents Clinton and Bush, all cited the poll as a key reason for sustained American tsunami relief. The US State Department also relied on Terror Free Tomorrow polling in testimony before the US Senate Committee on Foreign Relations.

In addition, Terror Free Tomorrow conducted the first and only poll in Pakistan after the devastating October 2005 earthquake. The poll was featured in The Wall Street Journal, CNN and international media. Moreover, the poll served as the principal finding by the US Senate for the United States "to take the lead" in relief efforts to Pakistani earthquake victims (Senate Resolution #356, co-sponsored by Senators Lugar and Biden, Chairman and Ranking Member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee).

Terror Free Tomorrow's surveys have been relied on as one of the key findings for new legislation to strengthen America's public diplomacy and humanitarian efforts, introduced by Senators Russ Feingold (D-WI) and Norm Coleman (R-MN). TFT findings have also been relied on by the State Department as an independent benchmark in evaluating the success of American foreign policy (State Dept Performance and Accountability Report), and by the Department of Defense in the National Military Strategic Plan for the War on Terrorism.

TFT's work has also been covered extensively in leading news media, including lead editorials and featured stories in, among others, The New York Times, The Wall Street Journal, The Washington Post, Associated Press, The Christian Science Monitor, USA Today, The Philadelphia Inquirer, The Financial Times, The Miami Herald, The Baltimore Sun, The Economist, CNN, NBC News, National Public Radio, Roll Call, The Hill, and U.S. News & World Report. Other coverage includes MSNBC, ABC News, CBS News, FOX News, Chicago Tribune, Newsday, Los Angeles Times, Reuters, The Washington Times, The New York Post, The National Review, The Boston Globe, The Houston Chronicle, The San Francisco Chronicle, United Press International, The White House Bulletin, The International Herald Tribune, The Globe and Mail (Canada), The Afghanistan Times, The Jakarta Post (Indonesia), Metro TV Indonesia, Tempo (Indonesia), Kompas (Indonesia), TV/Radio Australia, Straits Times (Malaysia), Pakistan Dawn, The Nation (Pakistan), GEO TV Pakistan, Pakistan Daily Times, Voice of America, Journal do Brasil, Die Welt (Germany), Le Monde (France), BBC, The Guardian (UK), The Daily Yomiuri (Japan), The Jerusalem Post, The China Post, The Seoul Times, The Indian Express (India), The Hindu (India), The Turkish Daily News,

The Turkish Press, Zaman (Turkey), The Oman Tribune, The Gulf News (UAE and pan-Arab), The Middle East Times, The Muslim News, and The Daily Star (Lebanon and pan-Arab), among others. TFT has also been extensively covered in blogs throughout the Internet.

Terror Free Tomorrow findings have also been cited in scholarly journals including the Harvard International Review, the New England Journal of Medicine, and important books on American foreign policy, such as Senator Barack Obama's The Audacity of Hope; Peter Beinart's The Good Fight; Tony Smith's Washington's Bid; Carnes Lord's Losing Hearts and Minds; and Dick Martin's Rebuilding Brand America and Peter Bergen's The Osama bin Laden I Know.

Terror Free Tomorrow's field partner and project manager is the international research specialists, D3 Systems, Inc. at: www.D3systems.com

D³ has conducted widely praised surveys in Iran, Syria and Pakistan with Terror Free Tomorrow, in addition to Iraq and Afghanistan for ABC News, USA Today, BBC and others. D³ is internationally recognized for its expertise in overseeing research projects from design through analysis in some of the most difficult research environments around the globe.

Since 1988, D³ Systems has developed a particular expertise on research in the Middle East. D³ Systems has developed unique research capabilities from scratch in Afghanistan and Iraq. D³ founded, in 2003, the first registered opinion research firm in Afghanistan: the Afghan Center for Socio-economic and Opinion Research (ACSOR). ACSOR has conducted qualitative and quantitative research projects for an international client group including the Asia Foundation, the US State Department, the BBC, the Voice of America, and Radio Free Europe. D3 has also conducted a number of quantitative surveys in Iraq for ABC News, USA Today, the BBC, the Voice of America, Deutsche Welle, Radio Sawa, and others.

Beginning in Europe in the early 1990s, D³ has played a leading role in the international use of telephone research for opinion polling and media audience measurement and evaluation into denied or limited access countries. While international telephone research from a central site (CATI) is an established method for consumer or business-to-business surveys, D³ has pioneered its use to reach publics in societies where on the ground, random probability sampling with sensitive questionnaires is not possible.

Methodology:

This survey was conducted by Terror Free Tomorrow, D3 Systems of Vienna, Virginia, USA, and the Pakistan Institute for Public Opinion (PIPO). Interviews were conducted face-to-face with 1,157 Pakistanis age 18 or older across 115 urban and rural sampling points in all four provinces of Pakistan. The fieldwork was conducted from January 19 to January 29, 2008.

The questionnaire consisted of 28 substantive questions, 12 demographic questions, and 26 quality control questions. Respondents were selected using a multi-stage random stratified sampling methodology. During the course of fieldwork, there were 1,842 contacts attempts made. Of these, 507 resulted in non-contacts, yielding a non-contact rate of 28%. There were 178 refusals giving the study a net response rate of 86%. The poll has a +/- 3% margin of error at the 95% confidence interval.

TFT, D3 Systems and PIPO use face-to-face research in Pakistan. Interviews were conducted by 53 trained interviewers who are native Pakistanis. Interviewers were briefed on a number of items including, but not limited to, the objective of the program and survey details, selection of respondents, the questionnaire (both asking of questions and recording of responses), timing and control issues, and usage of the questionnaire. Interviews were subjected to numerous quality control procedures including direct supervision of interviews in 1.2% of the interviews and in-person back checks by supervisors for 15% of the interviews.

The target sample was a random selection of Pakistani nationals, both male and female, above the age of 18. The sample covered all four provinces of Pakistan, with the number of sampling points chosen in proportion to the size of each province's population, as well as both urban and rural strata.

Pakistan's population is approximately 160 million. The population is heavily rural; however, urbanization has been rising from 18% in 1951 after its independence to 33% in the latest census (1998).

TFT's previous nationwide survey of Pakistan, used for comparison, was conducted from August 18 to 29, 2007, employing the same methodology and coverage. That survey can be also be accessed in the Polls section of www.terrorfreetomorrow.org.

Pakistan has a federal structure with four provinces: Punjab, Sindh, NWFP and Balochistan. The federal capital Islamabad is situated in Punjab, which is by far the largest province in terms of population size (58%) followed by Sindh (24%), NWFP (14%) and Balochistan (5%). All provinces of Pakistan were covered in the sample, including urban and rural areas of the NWFP but did not include the more remote, inaccessible Federally Administered Tribal Areas. The population is divided further into the following segments (chart follows).

Pakistan: Urban / Rural Distributions

The National Census data from 1998 are used as the universe for this sample. The National Census is classified by Villages as the Primary Unit in the Rural areas and Urban Census Circles in the Urban areas. We have adopted the same as our Primary Sampling Units. Using a multi-stage random stratified sampling method, we selected over 100 Primary Sampling Units, comprising Villages and Urban Circles in all the four provinces. The completed sample contains 115 sampling points; in which approximately 10 interviews were carried out in households selected using a random walk. A total of 1,157 men and women belonging to a national cross section in terms of gender, age and other socio-economic characteristics are represented in the sample.

The first household in a sampling point is chosen by drawing slips of paper on which the house numbers which are present on that street are written. After the first household is randomly selected, the interviewer follows a random walk selecting every third household on the right hand side of the street. The respondent (male/female adult 18+) is chosen randomly using a Kish grid.

The data represented in this sample are weighted for gender, age, province, and urban / rural distribution, according to the following chart.
